Referendum Meeting

Tuesday evening, June 15th, Mr. H. H. Hull and Rev. Hubber, organizer for Didsbury and Okla., met about a hundred people in the Evangelical church and gave an explanation of the coming referendum. The one question before the voters will be as to whether or not there shall be the prohibition of the importation of alcoholic liquors into the province for beverage purposes. That the present measure has met with a fair amount of success was pointed out by him. But those deeply interested in the well being of this fair province desire restriction of the importation so that we as a people may control what is now a reflection.

Good Attractions

King gasoline will reign supreme at the Calgary exhibition June 26 to July 3 as several of the biggest features depend on "gas" and "oil" to attain success. On Friday and Saturday, July 2 and 3, championship automobile races will be staged in which such noted Mercurian monarchs as Sig. Hanzl, first track champion, Louis Disbrow, former world's champion, R. Barr Lomph of England, and others will battle for $5,000 in prize money.

Auto polo, the most dangerous and exciting of all present day sports, will be a daily feature while on four days June 27 to 30 inclusive, Lieut. Omar Locklear will charge places in mail air. Locklear has only present of his feat in some of the largest cities, and his is the most talked of aviation stunt since the birth of the aeroplane.

Motorists will welcome the news that the Calgary automobile camp will be open for the season, starting exhibition week. The camp will be situated just one block south of the exhibition grounds on the bank of the Elbow river, with caretaker in charge. ### PAL O' MINE

What is sure to be an inspiration to native playrights, to intelligent managers and to battle-scarred actor-zeros generally is the success that is being won by William P. Spigner's comedy with music, "Pal O' Mine," which will bring its tale of birth, music, comedy and songs to the Didsbury Opera House one night, Saturday, July 3rd.

It is doubtful if there is any show on the road today which contains as much comedy—clean, refined comedy—much merriment and laughter, as that of "Pal O' Mine."

Miss Sarah Gihney, the well-known young actress who won fame as "Peg" in "Peg O' My Heart," will be seen in the leading role, and is supported by an excellent cast of clever actors, actresses and singers, including Grace Wither, Albert Thompson, Al. Now and others as well known. "Pal O' Mine" will be seen one night only, Saturday, July 3rd, at the Didsbury Opera House.

British Sentiments and Actions

It is inevitable as a result of the mighty upheaval in the world caused by the Great War, and the stupendous and extremely complex problems which must be solved in carrying on the work of reconstruction, that some misconceptions of policies and misunderstandings as to motives and actions will arise between nations; they even arise within individual nations. It is likewise inevitable, with Europe in the condition to which it has been brought by war and revolution, and with Great Britain as early the most powerful and financially sound of the Old World nations, that a great burden of responsibility should be thrown upon the Government and people of the British Isles. If Britain shirked that responsibility, no man could tell what further disasters and atrocities would overtake the world, and Britain would be rightly blamed for neglect of duty. Britain is not shirking its responsibility, but its endeavor to do the best in an almost hopeless and exceedingly difficult situation, its motives are all too frequently misunderstood and its actions misrepresented.

That misconceptions and misunderstandings should arise is understandable, because the ultimate success of which Britain is undertaking precludes making public the various steps by which these policies are being carried out. Britain today is acting as trustee for the rehabilitation of Europe and a godly part of Asia. Britain would gladly be relieved of the responsibility if she could, but she cannot. She, therefore, carries on. Enemies of Great Britain, however, are not slow in making use of Britain's work for the world to misrepresent the British people as reaching out to grab all they can during this reconstruction period, while other nations are weak and disorganized. Especially in the United States, the only other nation in the world whose position is at all comparable to that of Britain—are the enemies of Britain—endeavoring to create a deep-seated suspicion of British motives and actions. Britain is represented as militaristic, autocratic, selfish and brutal, an enemy to all other peoples and nations.

Recently, the launching of the British battleship, Hood, was used as a text by the Hearst papers to misrepresent Great Britain as threatening the United States, because no other navy could even begin to approach in size and power to the British Navy. But what are the facts? They were recently given by Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador at Washington, in a speech before the "Frigates" Club of New York. Referring to a certain class of United States publications, Sir Auckland Geddes said:

"The columns which I read picture a grasping, greedy England laying violent hands on anything she can reach, militaristic in spirit, creating a navy to dominate the oceans. That is not the England of fact; that is not the England that I, who am not English, love and admire. That is not the spirit which inspires the British Government. The people of England today are strongly anti-militaristic, liberal, democratic, seeking no quarrel, jealous of none, hoping for world peace and determined to make great sacrifices, if necessary, to secure it."

"Let us look at a few facts. First, the navy. When the armistice came we had more than 1,000 ships of various sizes building or finishing. These were mostly small craft, of course. But among them were four battle-cruisers, of which one, the Hood, was fitted out. The moment it was clear that the building was over the orders for over 600 of these ships were cancelled and the ships themselves were broken up and scrapped. Now note these 600 and more, there were great battle-cruisers, sisters of the Hood, and they were broken up. The Hood was not. She was too nearly finished. The cancellations would have been more sweeping had it not been that 310 of the vessels were completed for war. There were mostly of the cruiser or drifting type. These were finished as fishing-boats, etc."

Sir Auckland Geddes went on to give figures showing that the air force and army were even more drastically reduced than the navy. He said:

death with, and he asked whether this looked the millennium, or a desire to dominate the seven seas? "It is no business of mine," he added, "to compare these facts with the corresponding actions of any other nation, but I ask you, who know yourselves to be non-militarist, to resist them to what your own national pride if you are tempted to think English militarist."

England today is a different England from what she was before the war. During it, she, in common with the other British peoples, saw a great light. At home they are determined to mould and are rapidly moulding their social organization to secure certain clearly defined ends, the first and greatest of which is such adjustment between capital and labor as will give equal opportunities of health and education and advancement to rich and poor, high and low. The whole country is seething with new mental and spiritual life, and, in spite of all difficulties, believing that their feet are on the path to the better ordering of human affairs, the English people intend to go on steadily forward to secure peace and disarmament in Europe.

If the United States had decided to take its place in the League of Nations and assume its full share of the responsibility for the rehabilitation of the world and the preservation of peace, as Great Britain has done, perhaps there would be less likelihood of Britain's motives being misunderstood. As Sir Auckland Geddes said in concluding his speech at New York: "If you decide that you cannot help, please try to understand what we are attempting to do and how great our burden is."

JOY AND GLADNESS FOR THE CHILDREN

Every child—whether it be poor or rich is entitled to joy and gladness. Health is the birthright of all and there is absolutely no doubt that the healthy baby is a happy baby. It is the baby's nature to be happy—not to cry. Only the sickly baby is not happy. The well child is the joy to the home—it is a laughing, gurgling, happy little piece of humanity which drives dull care from the household. The sickly baby is the opposite—he is cross and peevish, cries a great deal and is a source of constant worry to the mother. But mothers there is no need of your little one being sickly. Acquire the habit of having a healthy baby, a healthy baby with a healthy stomach with a healthy baby will soon be well and happy again. Thousands of mothers have proved this through their use of Baby's Own Tablets—there is a smile in every day of your baby and make him happy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Strong Wings Of Upper Air

Possible to Attain 350 Miles an Hour Says Major Schroeder
Major W. R. Schroeder, holder of the world's record airplane altitude flight, told members of the Chamber of Commerce, whom he addressed at Cincinnati, that in a few months he expected to make an altitude flight across the continent, having breakfast at San Francisco and dinner at New York.

"At an altitude of 35,000 to 35,000 feet," said the major, "the high velocity anti-trade winds alone will carry us over 250 miles an hour and our engines will add more than 100 miles an hour to the speed. These terrific winds of the upper air will make a morning slip from New York to Paris a common occurrence."

It's a pity that more of us are not willing to follow the advice we give to others.

Headed For World Leadership

Chicago Paper Refers to Some of the Things Canada Has Accomplished.

Commenting on the proposal to appoint a Canadian minister at Washington, the British Canadian, published in Chicago, says: "More size of territory is no argument for the prerogative of nationhood. That is true, and, if Canada were merely a stretch of landscape, no matter how immense, her lone squatters would be rightly laughed at for demanding ambassadorial courtesies. But this big country next door is the mother of big men. In every field of endeavor they have proved their capacity—in agriculture, manufactures, commerce and trade they compete with the world's best. In arts and sciences they are not only students but teachers. They have taken their mark on the world map in the rough and turned it into a gigantic successful enterprise, with farms, factories, mills, mines, water powers, railroads, shipping, operating on a grand and lucrative scale from Atlantic to Pacific. When we think of Haiti and Panama and Siam and many other little nations with official visits at Washington, we get the shock of contrast. Surely Canada deserves to rank, not with the infantile republics and kingdoms, but with the great commonwealths. She is headed for world leadership!"

Chivalry in Excelis

The Maoris, now showing themselves, not for the first time, the loyalists of subjects, and the most chivalrous of enemies. Sixty years ago, when misunderstandings led them into rebellion, the Maori chiefs heard that General Cameron's force, operating against them, while waiting for river steamers had run short of food. They were spectators of the best kind. No glory, said they, in fighting hungry men, so, under a flag of truce, they sent down the river a little fleet of boats laden with potatoes and milk goats for the British forces. I doubt if the whole history of war can show an instance of magnanimity to equal that—London Daily Express.

Alberta's Seed Expenditure
It is estimated that the total supplies of seed given out this season by the Alberta government will represent a money value of $750,000, which is about double the expenditure of last year, and the largest in any one year since the government undertook this method of relief. All the grain supplied for seeding purposes was Alberta grown.

ed on its long tour of the southern prairie provinces. This represents one of the most unique enterprises and while picturesque in its conception, has been heartily endorsed by such organizations as the Grain Growers, boards of trade, agricultural societies and business interests generally. The date of arrival here will be announced later.

In charge of the car is Mr. Archibald Mitchell, the well known authority on tree planting under Canadian prairie conditions. Mr. Mitchell plans while here to give several of his instructive and entertaining talks on how to establish tree belts and what advantages they bring. It is hoped to have a special meeting for the school children.

The Tree Planting Car is entirely educational in purpose and is equipped as a motion picture lecture hall.
Mr. Mitchell has some excellent movies on the subject of planting and these will be shown both at the car and, if it can be arranged, at some local auditorium.

The Canadian Forestry Association is responsible for the whole enterprise which aims to develop public interest in the value of trees, not only to beautify our farm homes, but as a preventative of soil drifting and the other damaging effects of prairie winds.

Annual Children's Day

Our annual Children's Day program which was given at both Sie-bert's church and Juliaad school, of Siebert's and Maxton Mission, proved a grand success. The teachers, Miss Verrell and Miss. Mayie, rendered splendid service in the training of the children in their various exercises. Also Mr. Harry Becker from west of Didsbury, and his two little daughters, gave a few splendid selections on their stringed instruments, and one of the little girls gave a solo. The people had gathered from far and near and the church and school were filled to their utmost capacity, and all seemed happy and bright. The Children's Day offering last year at both church and school amounted to $11, this year the offering amounted to $15.27. We wish to thank all those who attended, and especially those who had a helping hand in the putting up of the program and the decorating of both church and school. There is a great future in these communities for the church and her service.
J. E. BENDER, Pastor.

ARCHIE P. MCKISHNIE

Printed by Special Arrangement with The Allen, Toronto, Ont.

She passed from the room, and Boy sat huddled before the table, his head in his hands, his eyes fastened upon the guns hanging on the wall. From the shadows Big McFavish's fiddle was wailing "Ye Banks and Braes." The fire died and the long-stemmed rooms reached and groped about the room, touching the dried venison strips and the hams and hocks hanging from the ceiling, glancing from the silvery green hides stretched for curing on the walls, hovering above the bundles of pelts and piles of traps in the corners of the room. But Boy's mind was not on its trailing activities that soon would bestir the dunes once more. In his soul he was pondering over the question of his new quest: a question which must be answered sooner or later by somebody.

CHAPTER II

The father arose and hung the fiddle on its nail.

"Best go to bed, Boy," he yawned, picking up the long sharp-shin which he had been shaping the handle and putting it in his pocket. When he withdrew his hand it held a letter.

"Well, now, if I didn't forget all about this here epistle!" he exclaimed frowning. "His Father gave it to me last afternoon. That man Watson, the land-agent at Bridgton, gave it to him to give me. You read it Boy, and see what he wants."

Boy took the letter and broke it open with nervous fingers.

"Watson says he's coming over to see you tomorrow, Dad. Seems like he wants to get hold of this place."

"By hickory!" expostulated the father, "what do you think of that?"

"What do I think? It's just what I expected, that's all."

Boy lifted the window and looked out. The moon was flooding the outer world with a soft radiance. The bark of a wolf came faintly to his ears from the back ridges. Old Boy lay stretched in the moonlight beside the ash-bed. As Boy watched him the dog arose, shook himself lengthily, turned three times around, and lay down again. An owl hooted mournful maledictions from a neighboring thicket, and in the nearby coop the fowl stirred and nestled down again, heads beneath wings. Boy came back and stood beside his father.

"I guess maybe I'm selfish, dad," he said slowly. "It isn't for me to."

"That's what troubles me," murmured Boy. "You know what them rich Englishmen are like, dad. They have always got hold of everything they want, and now this one is going to try and get our place. But we ain't got it in 100 years," he added, spinning one of old boy's spindles.

"Well, fight him dad; we'll fight him out, and if he tries to take it we'll—"

"Push, Boy, there's no reason to think he'll try to drive us."

Big McFavish, stood up, straightened one of old boy's spindles and turned into him for an instant.

"You see, dad, we're poor. That is, we have no ready money, though we have everything we need for comfort."

any what I think, although it's mighty good of you to ask. This place ain't mine, it's yours. You've worked hard and long to clear what you have cleared here, and that's a great deal more than any of the other Bushwhackers have done. I haven't been anything of a help to you much, 'Course I could be from now on. I'm a man grooved, nearly, and as soon as the trap is over I might pitch in and help you with the hog pen."

The father laid his pipe down on the table and combed his long beard with his fingers.

"Boy," he said, "every hanged stick of timber and every foot of this four hundred acres of bushland is as much yours as mine, and you know it. I ain't wastin' to clear the land any more than the rest of the Bushwhackers are. What do I want with cleared land? Gosh sakes alive, I'd be so lonesome for the woods that I could not live. I can't sleep now if I don't hear the trees creakin' and the twigs creakin' the roof nights. And ain't we tolembly happy, all of us together here, even if the little me is purty sick and it's mighty hard not to be able to help her? And ain't we hope and prayin' that she'll get to be her old self once more, here where the woods breathe in its own medicine. And don't we know them prayers'll be answered?"

He bent over and laid his big hand on the kid's shoulder.

"Then we'll naturally put in some great nights, creakin' hickory-nite by the fire and playin' the fiddle. Why I wouldn't part with one acre of this piece of bush for all the cleared land in western Ontario!"

Boy stooped and picked up the letter.

"Watson writes that he has a well-fortified farm near Clearview that he'll swap for this of ours," he said.

"Where's Clearview, dad?"

"Why, it's a strip of sandy bonny between Bridgton and Lake Erie. It's to light eyes to grow Canada-tidies. Well, I guess maybe Watson would be willing to swap that sand for our place. I don't like that man Watson. I can't say why, unless it's on account of some things I've heard of him and that other fellow, Snythe, who's a partner of his in some way."

"You mean the Snythe who keeps the store at Bridgton?"

"The same. You know him pretty well, I guess. He cheated you out of a dozen mink-hides, didn't he?"

"He tried to," answered Boy with a smile.

"Mr. Watson'll find that we're not wantin' to trade farms," affirmed the father.

"There's Gloss," suggested the boy. "If she was where there was a well—a well—"

"He hesitated and looked at Big McFavish.

The man laughed.

"Why, bless your heart," he cried, "you couldn't drag the girl away from this bush. She loves it—loves every nook and corner of it."

Boy smiled.

"She sure does," he agreed. "She sure does."

The father brought a pine board from the woodshed and began to whittle off the shavings for the morning's breakfast. This done, he gathered them together with a stockinged foot and planing now and again at the boy, who had resumed his old attitude.

"Watson and Snythe want to get hold of our property for some reason," said the father, "and I reckon it's pretty easy to guess what they're trying to get it for. It's that big land-owner, Colonel Halliburton, who has his mill on Lee Creek. I hear that Col. Halliburton swears that he'll own every stick of timber in Bushwhacker's Place."

"That's what troubles me," murmured Boy. "You know what them rich Englishmen are like, dad. They have always got hold of everything they want, and now this one is going to try and get our place. But we ain't got it in 100 years," he added, spinning one of old boy's spindles.

"Well, fight him dad; we'll fight him out, and if he tries to take it we'll—"

"Push, Boy, there's no reason to think he'll try to drive us."

Big McFavish, stood up, straightened one of old boy's spindles and turned into him for an instant.

Then we're includin' in that something called sharpness among businessmen. We've never learned it. We are like the old men who think that if they creep back into the woods before what they can't understand. We don't know their ways. I tell you, Halliburton would grab this bushland from us, and he's got to try. It's valuable. There's enough walnut and oak and the highest class of timber on this place to make us rich — rich, d'ye know that, dad? And ain't Halliburton and his agents trying to get every other bushwacker under their thumbs same as they're tryin' to get us? But, dad, listen—they won't get us! By Gosh they won't get us!"

The lad was trembling and his face was white and perspiring.

Amendments to The Luxury Tax Are Forecasted

Ottawa.—Important changes in the luxury taxes are pending. In the house Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, indicated some changes he intends to propose. In brief they are:

(a) Books and essential articles of clothing to be taxed 15 percent on the excess, instead of ten percent on the total selling price.

(b) Expensive furniture, walking sticks and expensive china to be subject to luxury tax. They were not previously included.

(c) Exemption limit increased on furs, coats, caps, mufflers, neckties, robes and rugs.

(d) modifications in the tax of sporting goods, velvets, lace and velvets, braids, ribbons and carpets.

Sir Henry did not give formal notice of his proposed amendments. This will be clear to the house, however, made it clear to the house that the taxes as laid down in the budget speech would be still in force for the present. "Nothing said tonight," he declared, "will alter the present law until the resolutions have passed the house."

Sir Henry suggested that the tax on boots, shoes, pumps and slippers might be raised from ten to fifteen percent on all those costing over $9, the tax to be figured on the excess over $9, instead of the total cost of the articles.

Sir Henry submitted further amendment in regard to essential articles of clothing. Instead of ten percent on the full cost, the tax on the following articles, if present suggestions are adopted, will now be fifteen percent on the excess.

Trousers sold separately from suits, in excess of $12 per pair; coats, men's and boys', sold separately from suits (not including leather coats lined with sheepskin), in excess of $25 each.

Cloth overcoats, men's and boys', women's and misses', in excess of $50 each.

Waistcoats, men's, sold separately from suits, in excess of $5 each.

Suits (except silk), in excess of $60 each.

Costs, women's and misses' sold separately from suits (except silk) in excess of $35 each.

The further stipulation is made that on articles of clothing, the selling price of material and the cost of manufacture, when sold separately, are to be combined for determining the selling price.

No change, Sir Henry added, was proposed on the tax on articles which might be required as an extravagance entirely within the control of the purchaser.

Sir Henry proceeded that he proposed to include walking sticks as subject to the luxury tax. Fur coats would be exempted up to $200 value, instead of $100, as provided in the original resolution. It was proposed to include them now.

A modification was proposed, Sir Henry added, in regard to the sports and games. Articles required for the popular games would be exempted from tax up to a certain amount, as for instance baseballs and bats, except up to $125; mitts and gloves, except up to $15; skates except to $2; footballs, except to $3; lacrosse sticks except to $15; hockey sticks except to 75 cents.

A tax of 15 percent was also proposed on all extravagant furniture of walnut, mahogany, rosewood, ebony, palmyra, etc.

A tax would also be placed on expensive china and crockery.

Ravages of Windstorm

More Than Thirty Counties of Minnesota and Part of North Dakota Affected

St. Paul.—Seven persons killed, more than 100 injured, and property losses that will aggregate hundreds of thousands of dollars were the toll taken by a terrific wind and electric storm that swept northwestern Minnesota and northern North Dakota.

Partial restoration of wire communication disclosed a slowly mounting death list, and fears were expressed that final reports from sections still isolated might increase the casualties.

More than thirty Minnesota counties were more or less seriously affected by the storm which was felt with diminishing intensity in Minneapolis and St. Paul.

The monetary damage is confined to small houses, barns, other out-buildings, livestock and trees.

Near Grey Lake, 25 of the 30 cottages in the summer colony at Birch Lake were levelled.

In addition to the killed, 15 persons were injured there, several seriously.

Faint and Dizzy Spells, Weakness and Shortness of Breath.

You can generally tell when the heart is affected by faint and dizzy spells, the shortness of breath, palpitation, throbbing, irregular beating, the nervousness, the weakness, the all-gone feeling, the chilling sensation, etc.

Many men and women become run-down and worn out when otherwise they could be strong and healthy. If they would only pay some attention to the first signs of trouble.

No remedy will do so much to make the heart regain strength and vigor, regulate its flow and restore it to a healthy and normal condition as Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Mrs. C. A. S. Drake, Paris, Ont., writes: "I have used on towards the second box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and feel like a new woman. I had these fainting, dizzy spells, once in a while, and also weakness and shortness of breath, which would become so choked up at times I could hardly sleep without sitting up in bed. When walking too fast I would have to stop and try to catch my breath. I feel a lot better since I have used your pills and know that they have helped me wonderfully."

De Valera May Speak Back Chicago.—Eamon De Valera, the Irish leader, said here that at the conclusion of the Republican convention he would go to San Francisco, and afterward to New York city. Although he announced no further plans, a member of his party said that when he went back to Ireland he "would go by the Zig Zag route," explaining that this meant in a roundabout way, to avoid detection by British agents.

Italian Cabinet Resigns Rome.—Premier Nitti announced in the chamber of deputies that the cabinet had resigned.

Speaks Right Out and To The Point MISS LADERONT SAYS DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS HELPED HER KIDNEY DISEASE

Bigwood Lady Points the Way to Health to the Weak, Worn, Nervous, Run-down Women of Canada. Bigwood, Ont., June 14th (Special). Dodd's Kidney Pills relieved me of kidney disease.

This is the statement of Miss Laderont, a highly esteemed lady living here. It is short and to the point. There can be no misapprehension of its meaning. It is a clear and ringing message to women all over Canada. It tells them where they too, may find relief.

For ninety per cent. of the ills from which women suffer come from weak or diseased kidneys. They are the organs that strain all the impurities, all the acids of the system out of the blood. If they fail in this work the impurities remain in the blood and are deposited all over the body. The results show themselves in weakness, backache, dizziness, and rheumatism.

Ask your neighbor if she these diseases cannot be avoided by using Dodd's Kidney Pills to strengthen the kidneys.

Production Only Means of Paying Our National Debt

Saskatoon.—A feature of the land congress held in the G.W.V.A. under the auspices of the Saskatchewan land settlement association, was the speech of Robert J. C. Stead, director of publicity of the department of immigration and colonization, Ottawa. He spoke on "Immigration and the National Debt."

Mr. Stead opened his remarks with a statement that the appeal of his subject, "Immigration and the National Debt," was not strong, and that immigration should not be approached from the point of view of paying debts. "If the emigrant enters this country he naturally assumes his share of the national debt, but at the same time he also sheds his responsibility to the country which he leaves."

Mr. Stead explained that he did not come to the congress commended by the minister in Ottawa as regards anything that he might say, but that he was going to express his own opinions and did not think any less of them because they were his own.

"Population will not pay the national debt," he declared. "Greater production is the only means. It is an unfortunate fact that under the present high rate of living there is too great a luxury to look back and examine the cause for such a rate. We are living in an age of invention which has entered into our whole structure and fabric to a wonderful extent."

Mr. Stead then pointed out that by means of the waterways, railroads and agricultural machinery, one man has been enabled to do the work of a thousand since 1860, and that as a result of this great advancement, production began to centralize in the cities.

Markets for the large amount of goods then produced were needed. Advertising came into being and the element of personal salesmanship was introduced. Advertisements have a peculiar psychological effect underlying them that is not considered. It is to induce discontent. That may sound brutal, but that is what it is. To make us discontented with what we have got and to go and purchase something else.

Yet the idea is not wrong. The most hopeless man in the world is the man who lacks discontent. So long as discontent is well organized it is a valuable asset to the community. It is like steam in a boiler. As long as it is under control it has powerful potentialities, but it is also likely to get out of control and blow up the boiler.

Today the cities produce everything except foodstuffs. It is that one incident with the development of the agricultural machinery and the opening up of great tracts of fertile land. By these means so far we have been able to keep up with the demand, but there comes a point where it must stop.

Pointing out the great grides made in production at the outset of the war, Mr. Stead said: "With the outbreak of hostilities it was evident at once that men were valuations without rifles and artillery, cartridges and shells. Aside from one rifle factory, Canada was practically without plants for the manufacture of military supplies, and the total value of munitions shipped from the Dominion during the first five months of the war was only $23,000. By that time Canadians realized the tremendous seriousness of the struggle in which they were engaged. Dreamers, who could see nothing more than a six months' war, were disillusioned, and every last that could turn a shell was hurriedly adapted to munition work. In 1915 Canada exported $57,000,000 worth of munitions and materials for war purposes. In 1916, $26,000,000 worth; in 1917, $388,000,000 worth; and in 1918—ceasing in November—$260,000,000 worth. These contributions demonstrated the services of some 600,000 men and women, so that, including those enlisted, these engaged in munition work, Canada furnished to the direct prosecution of the war nearly one-ninth of her population."

Clash With Irish Rebels

Raiders Fled, Leaving Material Intended for Firing Court House of Irish Village

Belfast.—A pitched battle, resulting in numerous casualties was fought in the village of Lisnallo, near Enniskillen, when a patrol of Ulster volunteers surprised 50 raiders who were about to burn the court house. Many of the Ulster men were wounded, one being shot through the lung.

The raiders' casualties are estimated at seven. Then men were carried off by their comrades. Indammal material was found outside the court house by a detachment who arrived after the flight of the raiders.

Meteor Falls in Oklahoma

Four States See Fiery Body Crossing Southwestern Skies

Oklahoma, Okla.—Geologists will examine a huge meteor which fell and burned itself out near here after lighting the sky over several southwestern states. Hundreds of persons in Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas and Oklahoma watched the meteoric flight, reports said. Tulsa, Okla., reported that when it passed over the city the meteor appeared to be white in a few hundred yards of the earth and that the lower and heavier portion was of a greenish blue color, followed by a long, wedge-shaped tail.

C.P. Smith, an astronomer authority at Muskogee, said he believed the meteor was thrown off from a destroyed planet between Jupiter and Mars, as it appeared to travel from west to east.

Fight With Forest Fires

Ontario Settlement Saved From the Forest Blaze After A Severe Struggle

Cohasset, Ont.—For three days and three nights, practically without any sleep, the women, men and children of Cohasset Creek battled to save their town from a terrific forest fire which swept down upon it. They battled successfully, but in the meantime all communication was cut off and there were many who feared that the town had been wiped out. Later, however, word that the town was safe was received through the mails.

From Gungawanda comes news of a menacing fire which threatens the new alpine camp. It has approached the Bonall mine. The O'Brien power transmission line has been burned and Wigwam is threatened, along with the big sawmill there. "Timbers and Porcupine are not molested."

British Troops Withdrawn

Peris

London.—In its common sense, Bonar Law was asked if there were any grounds for the Bolshevik boasts of the rout of British forces at Reish, Persia, said there was no justification for the reports, which were probably based on the fact that the British were some time ago voluntarily withdrawn from Reish, under the scheme for reducing British commitments abroad.

Mr. Law also said that if the United States refused the mandate for Armenia it was not likely that Great Britain would accept it.

The house was informed that Gen. Dyer did not voluntarily resign the command after the Amritsar affair.

Mr. Law announced that discussion of Gen. Dyer's case would be postponed until after the general had been heard by the army council.

Reverses for Bolsheviks

London.—Anti-Bolshevik forces in the Crimea have begun an offensive movement which is reported from Moscow to have won initial successes. The Bolsheviks retrieved part of the ground lost, however, the Soviet official communique claims.

Reports that Russian Bolshevik forces of the northern Polish front have been forced to retire are confirmed in an official statement issued at Moscow and received here by wireless.

Explosion on Warship

Difficulties of a Garden

The delights of a garden don't need classifying, but some of the difficulties do. The first is to find the right place in which to make the garden. It should be in a locality where the sun will shine on it for at least five hours each bright day. It should not be where the soil is so thin and the rocks so near the surface that the garden will burn out during the summer. It should not be under or near large trees; the trees will not only keep the sun off but will draw all the moisture and plant food from the soil. Nor must the garden be in a spot that gets flooded.

BUSINESS GIRLS AND TEACHERS

Suffer From Overtaxed Nerves and Often a Complete Break-down

Thousands of earnest, intelligent young women who earn their livings away from home, in the school room, in public offices, and in large business establishments, are silent, suffering victims of overtaxed nerves and deficiency of strength. Weak, breathless and nervous, they work without rest, with never a rest when headaches and backaches may every hour seem like a day. Little wonder their cheeks lose the glow of health and grow pale and thin, their eyes are dull and shrunken and heavy slowly but surely fade. Business women and girls because of their work and worry, look older than their years. What they need is the frequent use of a true, strengthening remedy to carry them through the day. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are like actual food to the starved nerves and tired brain of the business girl. By making rich, red blood they supply just the kind of help girls need to preserve their looks and energy, and their good looks. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills bring bright eyes, rosy cheeks, high spirits and thus make the day's duties lighter.

Miss Mary H. Hunt says: "Many people think that a teacher is a teacher as one of comparative ease, with short hours and holidays plentiful. But the reverse is the case. When one has to stand day after day year in and year out, with the worries great and small, from hounding children, it is no wonder that even the strongest, and especially upon the nerves. I had been teaching about five years and was then located at Springfield, Ont., when I found I was far from having the vitality I started out with. Before my term was out I had a complete nervous breakdown. I tried doctor's medicine and it helped, but only for a while. I then tried osteopathic treatment but with no better results. I suffered from loss of appetite, slept poorly, was nervous and troubled with severe headaches. Holidays came and I tried a change of school, but got into a harder place where I had over fifty pupils under my care. There were days when it seemed impossible for me to carry on my work. At this stage, my sister, who had also been a teacher, strongly advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I took the pills and by the time I had finished my second box, I felt that the pills were helping me. I read the book and decided there was no necessity for continuing the treatment, as I had never felt better, and had gained twelve pounds in weight. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with plenty of fresh air, worked wonders in my case and I should advise the use of them to any other fan fond under teacher."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any dealer in medicine, or by mail post paid, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

We sell only RELIABLE and DEPENDABLE GRADES OF LUMBER and BUILDING MATERIAL, because anything less would not give you satisfaction in your buildings, and would tend to drive away, instead of build up, our trade.

This is not a matter of morality or honesty, but a matter of selfish interest. For us to sell you goods of doubtful value just for the sake of making a little more profit, would be not only to risk your displeasure, but also your valuable good will and future patronage, and no business man can afford to do that and stay in business very long.

Therefore you need have no fear in buying Lumber or Building Material here that we will try to force anything of a doubtful nature, because, plainly, it is just as much to our interest to have you completely satisfied as it is to yours.

When some slick fellow tries to wheedle you on a low price basis, just remember these points, and that "QUALITY IS ALWAYS THE BEST POLICY" when it comes to Lumber and Building Material.

If you have half an hour to spare, don't spend it with some one who hasn't.

Don't simply see how you can "put in the day," see how much you can put into the day.

After all, you've got to give full, fair value, or you won't last.

Carousels and failure are twins. The most valuable "system" is a good nervous system.

AROUND THE TOWN

In our report of the bylaw passed by the council re entertainment and dancing, a typographical error was made in stating that such proceedings must close at 12:30 a.m. This should have read 12:00 a.m.

The funeral apartments in Vancouver were completely burned down on Monday last. Six are known to be dead and seven badly injured.

The many friends of Councillor Jim Dickey will hear with pleasure that he has been promoted to the position of travelling agent for Campbell & Griffin, with which firm he has been connected for some years as local representative. Jim's social personality will make him lots of friends in his new job, and his many friends in this district will send him every success in his new undertaking.

Attention is called to the fact that on account of the 1st of July coming on Thursday, the Wednesday half holiday will not be observed, next week, the stores remaining open.

Don't forget the Burnside picnic on June 30th.

A social evening will be held at the school house on Friday, June 25th, in aid of the little cripple, Buster cannot the privilege of the Women's Institute. Be generous with your subscription fee.

Has this happened before in the world's history? The Hub Grocery, Grosvenor & Zimmermann, received a shipment of groceries a few days ago amongst which was a large box of assorted candy. When opening the box it was found that they were short two chocolate bars, but in their place was a 12 cent piece wrapped in a piece of paper. Well, well, after all the way did some good to the railroad man, if it didn't to the rest of us.

Rain, rain—everywhere, but in Didsbury and immediate district. Heavy rains have fallen north, south, west and east within a radius of about twelve miles, but Didsbury simply was in out of the wet excepting for a sprinkle or two of water for weeks back and crops and gardens don't are not looking any too good. Naturally though, worms are increasing fast.

Come to the Burnside picnic: good program of sports and dance in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Broxon of Peoria, Ill., are visiting with their daughter, Mrs. G. Alden, for a few days.

The first Wednesday half holiday in town last week was much appreciated by everyone. Automobile and tennis parties took advantage of the holiday in great style.

Mountain View Notes

The grand opening of the Mountain View Community hall on Friday night, June 18th, was a great success. The hall was filled to its capacity and as many as fifty four couples were counted on the floor at one time. The people of Didsbury and surrounding districts turned out in full force and we wish to thank them all for their generous patronage in addition to pay off the debt on the hall.

Come again everybody, and we will entertain our greatest hospitality at the Mountain View W.I. will hold its annual picnic Wednesday, July 21, at the hall. A speaker will be engaged for the day and sports of all kinds will be held in the afternoon, and a dance in the evening. Come prepared to stay all day and enjoy a good, old fashioned celebration.

We have new neighbors on Mr. Crumb's farm and we understand Mr. Crumb is retiring. Does anybody know who the owner of the Stoney View farm is? A little stranger, bearing the name of Thomas Edgar made its appearance at the home of Carl Jackson on Saturday, June 19th. All concerned doing fine.

One party had enough money to pay seven dollars for a shadow Friday night, and it wasn't such a big loss, either. Wonder why he did it?

Little Willie Cummings was a patient in the Didsbury hospital last week for removal of his tonsils.

Excuse is an arch enemy of success. If you don't work, you won't have success, there's something wrong either with you or your efforts. Sit down and do some analyzing.
